- USDBRL opened stronger at 5.5669 after market here was closed yesterday because of the holiday. This was the lowest level today. Abroad, sentiment were mixed because the pandemic worsened in India and TRY are losing ground, while it predominates optimism with global economy and commodity price raises. Here, the solution for the 2021 budget pleased politicians, so there is room for the progress of the economic agenda. However, there is still the fiscal risk once all expenditures to fight the pandemic will be out of the spending cap, what means the longer the pandemic, the worst the fiscal outcome will be. The positive mood predominated and USDBRL breached the resistance level at 5.50. USDBRL moved to the highest level at 5.4383 and it closed at 5.4470.
