- USDBRL opened at 5.1701 reacting to the hawkish communiqué of the Central Bank yesterday after deciding to hike the Selic policy rate by 100 bps to 5.25%. The political scenario is also monitored closely. Abroad, no driver ahead of the nonfarm payroll in the US to be released tomorrow. The positive mood predominated in the morning session and USDBRL reached the highest level at 5.1116. The fiscal uncertainty coupled with the tension between the president Bolsonaro and the electoral court made USDBRL move to 5.22 level. The approval at the Lower House of the bill for the privatization of the post office service didn't make price. Close to the end of the session, USDBRL worsened again as the president Fux cancelled the meeting among the several branches of power after new criticism of president Bolsonaro against the Electoral court. USDBRL moved to the lowest level at 5.2568 and it closed at 5.2490.
